

SINGING HEN ECOVILLAGE & FARM

CO-CREATOR BUSINESS PARTNERSHIP

"The future of humanity depends on the education of our children today."

-Jennifer Jeffcoat

The Singing Hen Ecovillage & Farm 501(c)(3) is educational, training, and research center for mindful, conscious, and ecological living. We are a community that believes in our birthright to having food free of chemicals, vaccines, and antibiotics while also holding a safe space to connect and explore being human through events, retreats, camping, and training.

As an outdoor classroom, a living laboratory, and a community space SHEF works to remove the barriers of entry, such as land access, time, location, and finances. We provide a space connecting back to the land through polyculture farming & community.

CO-CREATOR PARTNERSHIP WILL ASSIST WITH:

- Food access programs
- Scholarships for children to attend summer camps.
- Provide vocational training for at-risk youth involved in the juvenile justice system.
- Provide low-income youth on-site with after-school programs focused on polyculture farming, animal husbandry, and clean eating.
- Education that supports the thriving of the whole child to live freely.

BECOME A CO-CREATOR BUSINESS PARTNERSHIP

Our partnership uses biomimicry principles. Each level supports the next Level.

Pollinator-$100

You can support our demonstration garden where we help kids thrive with nutritious foods, healthy relationship building, and education about sustainable growing practices.

Homesteader-$200

You can help care for our flock of heritage breed chickens & ducks. Our coop teaches kids and the community about caring for & raising poultry.

Rancher-$300

You can help care for our sheep & goats, and educate the next generation about livestock stewardship.

Urban Farmer-$400

You can help us remove the financial barrier of summer camps for our low-income youth. You can support our 15 partial or full scholarships for our year round classes.

Ecologist-$500

For co-creators who want to make integrative immediate and long-term impact on Singing Hen Ecovillage & Farm, our youth and the greater Scio Community at large.
